

Unable to get 404 redirect working

Inviato da markr - 07/02/2012 00:00

---

Hi all,

Is Redj able to redirect 404 errors to a page in joomla with all the template in place.

I can get the custom page to display but without the template????

{article 68} in 404 page.

I also get the following error

Notice: Undefined variable: custombody in ....plugins/system/redj/redj.php on line 254

any suggestions

many thanks

mark

=====

Re: Unable to get 404 redirect working

Inviato da admin - 07/02/2012 10:26

---

Hi Mark,

at the moment the custom error page supported by ReDJ is any HTML page that you can create under component manager. Also I've added support for article content using a macro, as you know.

I'm planning to add support for any site URL as custom error page, maybe this will be ready for the next version.

Let me know if you need more support.

Luigi

=====

Re: Unable to get 404 redirect working

Inviato da macweb - 18/03/2012 15:36

---

Hi, Luigi

When do you expect to include this feature ?

Thanks in advance

=====

Re: Unable to get 404 redirect working

Inviato da admin - 18/03/2012 16:29

---

It should be present in the next release. But I need to finish site migration to selfget.com, and to release the new Tag Meta (already finished, just need some tests).

Kind regards,

Luigi